

Beware Of Being Two-Timed

If almost all the mentioned tips remind you of your beloved then its time you beware.

If almost all the below-mentioned tips remind you of your beloved then its time you beware. He is your Mr. Right. Cool, attractive and handsome. And you are his lovey dovey in the beginning when cupid strikes you, you see everything with rose tinted glasses and you want to own him completely therefore you become very possessive and you want to know everything about your beau before you make promises of eternal love to him you want to know whether he is as honest as he makes himself out to be whether he is already married with children or he has another girl locked away in his closet and is using you besides these days there are many men who just trap girls with doubtful motives as Rita Singh a leading lawyer said "there are many heart breaks these days because women just jump into relationships without verifying the antecedents of the man they have met if only they were more careful about the man they were befriending they would be much happier.

"Every woman before going out with a man should be sure about his character". Said her friend Rosy, otherwise the relationship meets a dead end after some day these two women gave me some hints on how to find a perfectly faithful man, I have written them down, follow them if you do not want to be ditched in your relationship.

- The boy you are going out with never takes you along to places where he is known and where he is recognized this is because he does not want others to know that you are existing in his life. Whenever he is in your company, he gets calls on his cell phone and he always excuses himself to receive the calls and glibly tells you that the calls are from his colleagues in his office. Moreover, with the phone walks away from you to talk privately. More often than not this is an indication that your rival is on the other line.
- More often than not your beloved wants to meet you in your flat. He on no condition invites you to his flat because he is afraid that if he invites you over you will figure out his real intentions.
- Sometimes your sweetheart is in a tearing hurry to invite you over and sleep with you because that is the convenient time when his wife is out of town and he does not want to lose the golden opportunity to sleep with you therefore he uses all the means at his disposal to get you in bed as fast as possible.
- Most of the time the endearments he gives you are all well rehearsed these are all learnt by heart from some movie. When you listen to these rosy dialogues, you are sure he is playing a part your life without wanting to be a part of your life.
- The man in your life is always going out of town even during holidays this shows that he is leading a double life.
- Whenever your sweetheart is out of town, he never divulges to you, the nature of his business, the hotel where he is putting up, the place that he is visiting. Each and everything is kept in the dark. This shows that he is not on a business trip but on a lover's trip.
- When ever he is out of station he never calls you up maybe because he does not want the other girl in his life to know about you. Therefore, he always keeps in touch with you through e-mail. Nevertheless, if you insist on calls he speaks in a voice that you can barely hear, the conversation lasts for few seconds, and the phone goes dead on your ears. This is a true indication that he is with someone to whom he does not want to disclose your identity.
- If your beloved, does not give you his landline number and he only gives you the phone number of his work place this shows that he is not very keen on you and just passing time with you.
- A person who keeps you a secret from his parents is not serious to be hitched up with. He is only using you as a past time therefore beware.
- The man in your life is very secretive about his past life he does not divulge anything about his past life to you this means that he has a girl already in his pocket and you are just a passing fancy.
- Your beloved is always unavailable on holidays giving a lame excuse that he is busy in a business meeting trying to avoid you this means he is two-timing you.
- When you ask him to meet you, he gives you an excuse he is held up in the office this shows he is avoiding you for somebody especial.
- When you are out for an outing to a restaurant or a club he makes frequent excuses to get away for sometime this is a sign that he does not want an acquaintance or friend to know that you are existing in his life.
- Many a times when he is in your company he refuses to take certain calls the reason being he does not want you to know about that other some one special in his life.
- Your beloved is always online wasting his precious time on the laptop and when you go to check he very cleverly distracts you from seeing it so that you may not see with whom he was chatting online.
- He never ever forgets his cell phone he always keeps it with himself. Because he knows, his cell phone has many dark secrets locked in it. Which he does not want to show
- His friends who encourage him in his immoral activities always feel uncomfortable in your company. Be on guard from such fair weather friends.
- You suddenly find out that your sweet heart has cheated many girls in the past. That means a cheater is always a cheater. Therefore, to be on the safe side collect all the evidence against him and bid him good-bye. By Golden Reesinghani
